Q: Now that the frieze at the base of the Capitol Dome has been completely filled in, what will happen if the United States goes on and has any more history?

A: A trial zipper on the dome proved untidy looking, and embarrassing to Miss Columbia who surmounts our Capitol. A bill is now pending in Congress prescribing that if this country happens to have any more history it will be lend-leased to new-born nations such as Ceylon, Indonesia and Israel. These new countries are in dire need of history to paint around their rotundas.
